Death of Mrs. Davis.

Word was received here Friday from Mrs. Earl Fry at Corsicana announcing the death of Mrs. Minnie Davis at her mother's home in Corsicana. Mrs. Davis as Miss Minnie Seales, was Mrs. Fry's nurse at Cuero while she was confined in Dr. Reuss's hospital there and the two were much attached to one another. Mrs. Davis' husband is a passenger conductor on the Cotton Belt railroad and their home was at Waco. Mrs. Fry went from Corsicana to San Marcos where she is visiting this week.

A FREE FIGHT.

Thursday night at Monserrate at Mayo's saloon a general free fight with beer glasses took place in which Rudolph and Henry Peterson, Dave Hull, Will Donnelly and J. M. Greer took part. All were more or less disfigured and there were knock-downs too numerous to mention. Donnelly gave Greer a swipe across the back with a knife cutting a long but not very deep gash. Donnelly said Greer hit him with a beer glass hence the cutting. The two Petersons came in Monday and paid their fines to Justice Blohm.

An Awful Accident.

Friday evening at Gonzales a little son of Robert Kisbaugh was playing near the dam across the river. He kept popping his whip over the lever that carries the power from the waterfall to the gin-house and moves the ponderous machinery of Smith & Lowry's mills. The whip caught around his wrist and the popper end to the shafting and held him fast. The arm was pulled entirely in two leaving the bone above the elbow protruding. It was a dreadful sight. His agonized screams were heard and Mr. Lowry ran over and succeeded in setting him free. The boy was ten years old. No blame is attached to Smith & Lowry at all as the danger signal and trespassing notices were both posted conspicuously. The boy is reported dying.

Colonel C. F. Woods, the well known stockman of Flatonia, was here Saturday on business.

Charles Koehn and wife of Moxville, Iowa, was here last week visiting John Gaedke and family. He went from here to Weimar and will return home from there.

C. H. Richter of Gonzales, came over last week to see his relatives here.

AN AWFUL FALL.

A young man named Charles Joullin was knocked off of a freight train here Saturday morning at 3 o'clock and terribly injured. The through freight from Cameron passes through here every morning at about this time. Joullin boarded the train at Flatonia to go to Yorkum. When it got here it stopped to do some switching. When the train pulled out, Joullin, according to his story, was sitting on top of a box car. He states that the brakeman did not know he was on the train and was on a different part of the train. Joullin was approached by a tramp who tried to make him believe that he was the brakeman and demanded money. Joullin declined to give him any and told him that he wasn't the brakeman and so had no right to ask for money. Some further words passed and Joullin got up and started to walk to the other end of the car when the tramp stepped up behind and deliberately knocked him off the car. The train at this time must have been running about 20 miles an hour as they always put on a full head of steam so as to be able to climb the hill beyond. The train had reached the bridge when Joullin fell off and he must have struck it in his fall, although he says that he remembers nothing about it. After striking the bridge he fell 16 feet to the bottom of the gully or creek and nearly in the water. He must have remained unconscious more than an hour as another train passed at 4 o'clock but he did not hear it. The fall broke his right thigh and nearly broke his left leg just below the knee, sprained his left arm and mashed the side of his face. At different times before daylight he called for help and different persons heard his cries but could not tell where they came from. After sunrise a farmer bringing in cotton heard him calling and went to his assistance. Help was summoned from town and he was moved to the City hotel and a physician attended him, setting his broken thigh and dressing his other wounds. To the GAZETTE he stated that his name was Charles Joullin; that he was formerly from Alabama but had been working at Beaumont recently and was on his way to Yorkum. He said his grip had been sent on ahead to Yorkum. He is a young man, about twenty-two or twenty-three years old, quite well dressed. He stated that no blame was attached to the railroad company whatever, as the man that pushed him off was not a railroad man. He gave a good description of the party and expresses a desire to meet up with him some time.
